

Ben Elton Authentic Stupidity video transcript

Ben is talking to the camera. He says, 'Its Ben Elton here to tell you that artificial intelligence is not our greatest threat.' The screen goes blue and shows an animation of AI, computer coding, hard drive technology, whilst making digital/computer noises.

The screen then goes white, with a brick wall effect and text on screen that reads 'Authentic Stupidity'. Ben continues to speak and says, 'It's Authentic Stupidity.' The screen reverts to Ben talking to camera. He says 'So come and see me, Ben Elton, in my all-new live stand-up comedy show. Authentic Stupidity.

He finishes by saying 'You'd be stupid to miss it.' As the promotional artwork appears on screen with text that reads 'Phil McIntyre Live proudly presents Ben Elton Authentic Stupidity stand up comedy tour'. There is an image of Ben Elton to the right of the screen and three four star reviews at the top that read 'A comedy great, The Telegraph', 'Genius, The Times', A cross-gen hit, The Guardian'.

ends