

Horrible Histories Gorgeous Georgians & Vile Victorians trailer transcript

Artwork appears on screen with text on screen reads 'Horrible Histories Live on Stage! Gorgeous Georgians & Vile Victorians'.

An illustration of a King and Queen appear on screen. Speech bubbles appear with text that reads 'By, George, I'm King!', and 'You don't empress me!'.

Two characters then appear on screen, and they are talking to camera. They say 'I'm Florence Nightingale, here to help the sick and injured'.

The other character says 'Would you like me to treat the victims?

Florence Nightingale replies, 'Patients!'.

The other character says, 'They are feeling a little saw!', as he begins to wave the saw around that he is holding.

Florence Nightingale says, 'I have the perfect cure'.

The other character responds, 'Amputation?'.

Florence Nightingale says, 'No! Come to see Horrible Histories production of Gorgeous Georgians & Vile Victorians, at the Gala Theatre, Durham!'.

The other character says, 'On the 19th and 20th September'.

Florence Nightingale says, 'It's the perfect summer tonic!'.

The other character says 'So, get your tickets now! Chop, chop!'. As he waves his saw around again.

The artwork appears on screen for Horrible Histories Gorgeous Georgians & Vile Victorians. Text on screen reads 'Horrible Histories Live on Stage! Gorgeous Georgians & Vile Victorians'. An illustration of a King and Queen appear on screen. Speech bubbles appear with text that reads 'By, George, I'm King!', and 'You don't empress me!'. And more text that reads 'Gala Durham, Fri 19 & Sat 20 Sep, Fri 1.30pm & 5pm, Sat 11am & 2pm, 03000 266 600 | galadurham.co.uk'.

ends