

Iain Stirling video transcript

[Audio: upbeat instrumental music throughout]

Multiple television screens appear on screen, showing multiple colours and a pixelated like effect.

Text on screen appears that reads 'Iain Stirling Relevant'.

The camera zooms in on one of the television screens to show a male comedian saying 'Stand up comedian with one of the most iconic voices in the country'.

We then hear multiple male voices saying his name, 'Iain Stirling', 'Iain Stirling', 'Iain Stirling'.

The small television screens are have been enlarged on the screen. Different clips of Iain play on each one of him on different television programmes. Text appears on screen in one of the screens that reads 'Extremely funny The Telegraph'.

As the different screens play, another review appears on screen. The text reads 'The voice of the British Millennial. The Times'.

We hear multiple different voices, the first one saying, 'looking forward to this man, you ready Iain Stirling?' 'Yes'.

Followed by 'Thank you so much for being on'. 'It's been an absolute pleasure'.

As the different screens play, another review appears on screen. The text reads 'A national sensation. Evening Standard'.

We see a clip of Iain Stirling. He says, 'My voice is so much more famous than my face'.

Before showing text on one of the small screens that reads 'Tomorrow night'. We hear Iain's voice say the same thing but in a lower tone, as he does when he presents Love Island.

Text on screen appears that reads 'The iconic voice of ITV's Love Island A conversation between Jonathan Ross and Iain Stirling play 'Basically you're a comedian you are a comedian' followed by 'I'm a comedian'.

A clip of Iain Stirling plays 'Scottish is almost exactly like being English except when we go on holiday people actually like us'.

Text on screen says, 'Extra tour dates added for 2025'.

A clip of Iain Stirling plays 'That's the best thing about being a dad it's quite easy to be a good dad, society has set the bar...incredibly low'.

The promotional artwork appears on screen with an image of Iain Stirling pointing his finger towards the screen. Text appears at the top of the screen 'www.iandoesjokes.com book now'.

ends