

John Shuttleworth: Raise The Oof Trailer

John Shuttleworth is seen on stage playing a piano and singing. Text on screen reads 'Sublime Character Comedy The Guardian'.

John is stood on stage. He says, 'Is it Jackdaws Ken?' 'Yes, but they've been trying to peck me hair'. 'Well, of course they would, Ken's got a bubble perm'. 'Well, of course they would, Ken's got a bubble perm. A jackdaw would consider that very good nesting material, wouldn't they?'

Text on screens read 'The 42nd best reason to love Britain The Telegraph'. 'Perfectly pitched deadpan humour The Mail'.

He shouts 'Oh!' and starts singing. Text on screen reads 'A ludicrously compelling night out Evening Standard'.

Text on screen appears as he sings 'John Shuttleworth', 'Raise The Oof!', 'on sale now'.

He is seen clapping on stage and applauding the audience. 'Oh! Thank you very much'.

Text on screen reads 'Shuttleworths.co.uk'

**ends****