

English Touring Opera: The Gondoliers Trailer

[Audio: For the Merriest Fellows by Gilbert & Sullivan]

There are five actors dressed in fancy old fashioned gowns on a boat.

[Text: The Gondoliers]

There are two actors in a chair one has a crown on his head with their chairs back-to-back. The other has a red uniform on.

There are females gathered holding bouquet of flowers in dresses. They push the bouquets away from their chest whilst holding them.

Male actor in red uniform walks over to table hastily and picks an object.

Close up of male actor in red uniform picking up a bottle.

Two actors centre stage in white outfits and hats on, both turn to face each other then turn again with their backs against each other

[Text: "This production gave everything it could with captivating performances to match" five stars Opera Now]

Male actor in a white suit holds woman in pink dress and spins her around.

[Text: "Earns every one of its six out of five stars... a production no opera lover should miss" six stars Northern Arts Review]

Male actor with crown on his head sitting with male actor who has red uniform on. A male actor with a red and black outfit on is standing holding a black stick pointing over them.

Male actor with crown walking with a sword looking at audience. Male actor in purple fancy gown and blonde wig holding a stick and walking down staircase.

Male actor in red and black uniform holding a stick walking fast then turning swiftly. Two female actors with wigs and one with a headpiece on in fancy gowns place each hand against the others whilst laughing.

Ensemble march in a circle through stage.

Two actors in white outfits and hats dance back and forth in sync whilst singing and stand close to each other and extend their arms whilst looking at audience.

[Text: "This fast paced, intricately choreographed show is a masterclass in clarity over chaos" Five star the Guardian]

[Text: five stars Opera Now; five stars The Stage; five stars Northern Arts Review; four stars The Times]

Female dancers in gowns and male dancers in white outfits and hats dancing together crossing over the stage.

Male dance dancing with female dancer and twirls her in. Female dancers dancing with male dancer's centre stage taking turns to be twirled.

[Text: "There are tons of laughs...sumptuous costumes, whirling choreography and some impeccably Venetian sets" four stars The Times]

Female actor in pink veil holding flowers descends staircase

[Text: English Touring Opera. Opera that moves. Book now: englishtouringopera.org.uk]

ENDS